

Romulus awaits Santa

The streets of the City of Romulus will come alive with the sights and sounds of the Christmas season this Friday, when Mayor Beverly McAnally officially opens the Yuletide in the city.

Friday night at precisely 7:15 p.m., the Mayor, with the help of a special child, will throw the switch that will light the city Christmas tree, and other decorations all over the city. Mayor McAnally has asked residents and business in the area to join her by lighting their lights at 7:15.

The holiday event, sponsored this year by the greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce, will begin at 6:45 p.m. with music provided by the Romulus High School Band.

At 7 p.m. a community sing-along, will be led by Brownie and Girl Scout troops from the area.

After the tree lighting ceremony, the grand old man of Christmas, Santa Claus, will officially arrive in Romulus.

Following the arrival of St. Nick, the band and the children will proceed to the Senior Center where they will have a community Education Building, where donuts, soft drinks and Santa will await them.

All residents of Romulus are invited to congregate at Bilmar's Supermarket on Goddard Road, where the tree lighting ceremony will take place.

Kuo keeps 'the birds' airborne

By JEFF HARSTEDT
(Special to the ANP)

SAN DIEGO — Birds, Navy jargon for the sophisticated aircraft which roar from carrier decks, are the long arm of deployed battle groups responding to global commitments.

And it's men like Romulus' Rick Kuo who help keep them flying.

Kuo, the son of Evelyn Trojanowski, 15865 Harrison St., Romulus, and Thomas Troy, 916 N. Long Lake Blvd., Lake Orion, is a Navy aviation structural mechanic with Fighter Squadron Twenty-One (VF-21).

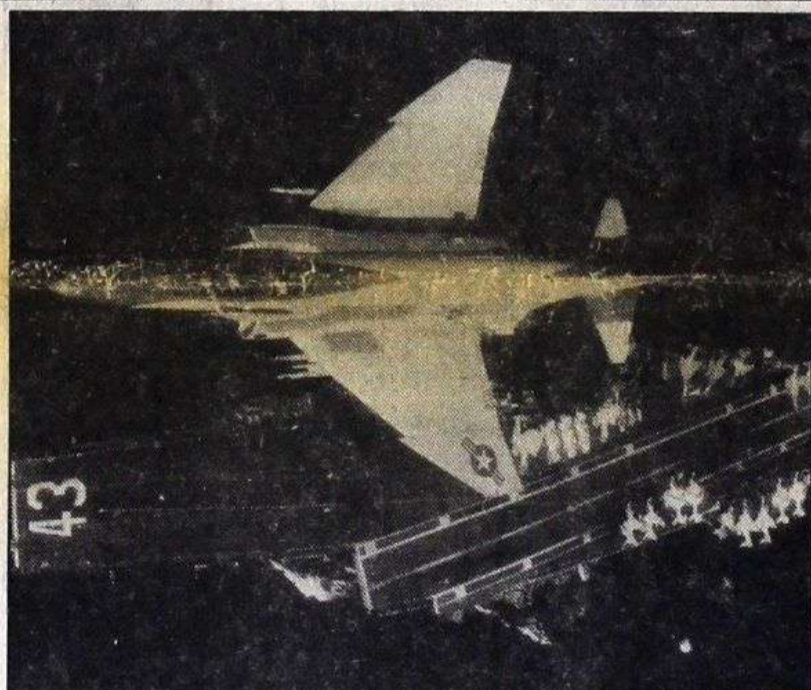

He does his job by the book. "I provide the maintenance shops with up-to-date publications needed to perform maintenance and repair on the jets," says Kuo, the squadron's technical publications librarian.

The library Kuo maintains provides the 11 maintenance shops with everything from troubleshooting manuals to wiring schematics.

"It's important to keep the library complete and up-to-date," says Kuo. "Without the 'pubs', the planes wouldn't fly."

The squadron's planes, F-4 Phantom fighters, are renowned for their long service life and effectiveness in combat. The jet, flown by VF-21 for two decades, set many speed, climb and altitude records. Over the years, it has maintained air superiority when and wherever engaged.

While on combat patrol over North Vietnam in June 1965, two VF-21 Phantom crews shot down two MiG-17s for the first MiG kills of the conflict. In May 1972, Navy Phantoms accounted for eight MiGs in one day. With 280 recorded air-to-air victories, it is a versatile, proven performer.

That's what Kuo is striving to be.

Kuo attended John Glenn High School in Westland before joining the Navy in September 1977.

"I liked airplanes and wanted to travel," he says.

After graduating from boot camp at Great Lakes Naval Training Center north of Chicago, Kuo received specialized job training as an aviation structural mechanic.

He then reported to Patrol Squadron One at Barber's Point Naval Air Station in Hawaii. From there Kuo made two western Pacific deployments visiting such countries as Japan, the Philippines and Australia.

Kuo reported to VF-21 in August 1982 and returned recently to nearby Miramar Naval Air Station after a six-month around-the-world deployment aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea.

During the deployment he earned his high school equivalency diploma and qualified as an Enlisted Aviation Warfare Specialist.

"When I first came in," says Kuo, "I partied a lot. But I grew up, got married and settled down. The Navy has taught me a lot about life. I do my best to do a good job."

The squadron's transition from the old F-4N Phantom II to the latest model F-14 Tomcat, a plane for the future, is keeping Kuo busy.

"I'm up to my ears in books," he says. "With the new plane comes a new technical publications library. It's a challenge starting from scratch."

"But I've got time," says the 23-year-old petty officer. "I plan on staying in for 20 years and climbing the ladder as high as I can."

Council moves meetings to Monday night

Newly-elected City Council members and first term mayor, Beverly McAnally, didn't waste any time on protocol and immediately got down to work. There was no time for the traditional "honeymoon" between council and the newly-elected mayor.

Instead, the council moved an agenda which included a wide range of key items from naming a new city attorney to appointments to various commissions and offices. They also concurred to move council meetings to Monday night.

With Fred Junior Block, the dean of the council, skipping the initial council meeting — he reportedly went hunting — council approved a motion offered by councilman Barry Baumann to switch meetings from Tuesday to Monday.

Hence, City Council meetings will be held the first, second and fourth Mondays of the month, beginning at 8 p.m. Baumann said that one of the major concerns he had about holding Tuesday night meetings "was that our citizens were not able to get timely information about what council was doing."

"We would hold two meetings before the people would find out what we accomplished in the first one. This way, residents can, through the legal publication, read on Wednesday what we (Council) did on Monday. And I believe if Councilman Block had been present at this meeting he would have also voted for the change."

Council has been meeting on Tuesday night since Romulus was incorporated as a city in 1970.

"I foresee no problems in conducting these meetings on Monday night," Baumann added.

At the initial meeting the council, by charter provision, must also select its Mayor Pro Tem and name a Chairperson Pro Tem of Council. Mary Ann Banks, who has served as Mayor Pro Tem for the past six years, retained the title by virtue of receiving the most votes cast in the November election. (The City Charter stipulates that the top vote getter will serve as the Mayor Pro Tem and preside over Council).

Newcomer to council, William Wadsworth, offered the name of Jimmie Raspberry for consideration as the Chairperson Pro Tem of Council and the nomination was accepted unanimously by those in attendance.

Baumann will also remain as the council's representative to the Planning Commission.

Council gave Mayor McAnally authorization to enter into an agreement with the law firm of Barry, Hopson, Francis, Mack & Seifman for legal services that may be required by the city. Mayor McAnally pointed out in her memorandum to council "... to avoid new issues of interpretation, the contract (with the new firm) is similar to the previous contracts except for the rates of compensation which are reduced."

"... The court found that the city is liable to the plaintiffs for payment of wages for overtime accumulated..."

One major lawsuit facing the city today is that of Bizek vs. City of Romulus. That lawsuit, initiated in 1976 by the then Purchasing Director and Assessor, Edmund Bizek, and joined by Carole Bales, Lorraine Kubiak, Daniel Lambert, George Hargrove (since deceased), James Radford, Barry Baumann, Jim Darnell, Robert D. Plank and John F. Chihani contended that the plaintiffs didn't receive compensatory time and/or were discharged from their duties because of political reasons when the then mayor, James C. Stewart, took office.

Attorney E. O'Rourke, who is handling the case for the city, informed the administration and council through a letter that District Court Judge John C. Seiler has rendered a decision in the case.

O'Rourke stated "... The court found that the city is liable to the plaintiffs for payment of wages for overtime accumulated, and not taken as compensatory time, at the time each of the plaintiffs' employment with the city was terminated. The amount of dollars must be determined either through negotiation or trial."

O'Rourke went on to say that the court found that the city was not liable to the plaintiffs for damages arising out of allegations that the plaintiffs were discharged for political beliefs and activity. The case cited as controlling was the Branti case.

"The court's decision with respect to liability for overtime was based on a finding that, because the city had paid accumulated overtime to two employees, other than the plaintiffs, there was sufficient inconsistency in treating the employees that the policy to only give 'comp time' for overtime was to some extent, at least temporarily, abandoned," O'Rourke added.

O'Rourke suggested, and council agreed, to meet in private to discuss the matter further.

Raspberry launched his sixth term on council urging the administration to search for funds to construct a second senior citizens complex in the city.

"Other communities are going after the funds," Raspberry noted. "At first we were led to believe by the federal government that no such funds were available. But there are, therefore, I would like us to see if we can make application for these funds."

Later Raspberry said that there are possibly 500 applications "right now, if we can find the room for them for senior housing. Some of our people are living in sub-standard housing and can't pay their heating bills."

"We should look into the possibility of getting federal funds for another senior complex," he added.

Romulus constructed a senior apartment complex with 125 units which was open for occupancy in 1979. The building is located at Bibbans and Shook in the central business area.

Raspberry also would like a "status report" on the proposed Post Office. In June of 1983, Congressman William Ford (D-Taylor) announced that the city had been approved for a new postal facility, however, little, if anything, has materialized toward constructing the building.

Santa's on his way

The Christmas season will officially begin in Huron Township on Sunday when city fathers and citizens gather to light the city Christmas Tree.

The tree lighting ceremony will take place across the street from Township Hall on Huron River Drive, Sunday at 7 p.m. This year, the recreation department will be sponsoring the event.

Immediately after the tree is illuminated, Santa Claus is expected to make his first appearance in Huron Township this year.

Santa's scheduled to arrive by horse and buggy at approximately 7:15. Santa will celebrate the opening of his favorite season with hot chocolate and cookies for residents, and he will also take Christmas requests from boys and girls who have been good this year.

Township residents are invited to take part in the program.

'Toxic 200'

Sumpter dump is among state's worst

Three abandoned disposal sites in Sumpter Township are among the state's 218 most hazardous waste sites according to a list released last week by the state Department of Natural Resources.

Listed among the "Toxic 200" were the Satterlee landfill (on Judd and Carleton West); the Oakville Waltz Disposal site (between Martinsville and Sumpter Road); and the Martinsville Road Disposal site (between Arkona and Willow Road).

Sumpter Township Supervisor Jim Reeves said Monday that he had been "pushing for" a clean-up of the closed Satterlee landfill for the past two years. He said that the township was investigating the other two sites on the list.

"This is the first official word I've heard on those two," he said. "I've never seen them. The Wayne County Health Department is going to contact me with (details of) the locations."

Sumpter Township Trustee Michael Huziak said that he'd heard a rumor about the Oakville Waltz site, but had never seen it. "It's a surprise to me that they (the state) say those places are out there."

DNR geologist Beth Mursch said that both sites are apparently in "very remote, wooded locations. A hiker found the Martinsville site, and reported it to the DNR," she said. "The other (the Oakville Waltz) site was apparently reported by district DNR personnel."

Mursch said the reports didn't indicate the source of the dumping. "But we think there's a connection between the Oakville and Martinsville site," she said.

Located in the swampy, sparsely populated southern section of the township, the "mystery sites" are reported to be about half an acre in size.

According to the DNR report, approximately 300 barrels of organic compounds were found at the Oakville Waltz site. "Some of those barrels were tested," Mursch said, "and found to have a high metal content. In at least one of the barrels, we found traces of arsenic."

Barrels of paint, sludge and other wastes were found at the Martinsville site, said DNR officials. The Satterlee site contains evidence of "landfill leachate" (a broad term to describe the liquid spilling out of a landfill). Reeves describes the liquid as "colored water, oozing from the ground."

Gary Klepper, chief of site assessment for the DNR groundwater division, said that citizens living near the listed sites should "avoid trespassing, especially on the ones higher up on the list. "We'll be able to tell people more as we move into the next phase of investigation," Klepper said.

The three Sumpter sites all place in the bottom quarter of the list (headed by an abandoned Monroe County landfill containing organic chemicals). The Martinsville Road site is ranked 151, and the Oakville Waltz site 163. Ranked lowest (at 180) is the Satterlee landfill.

Water and air pollution, the threat to underground water supplies, the risk from direct contact with the contaminants, and

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By John Brimble

Crumb crusts are especially successful in a microwave because they don't need to be brown. Use graham cracker, ginger snap, or other cookie crumbs.

Simple kabobs: toss sea scallops in a little lemon juice, and thread on skewers with partly cooked bacon. Broil 7 to 8 minutes, turning once, until browned.

Freshly grated red radishes add color to salad — and a spicy bite.

Boil fresh corn right in the husk for fresh, delicious flavor. Easy to peel when cooked.

Take fruit desserts out of the ordinary with a sophisticated topping. Whip a cup of heavy cream with ½ cup superfine sugar. Fold in 2 Tbs. cream sherry, and pour over fruit.

Romulus High French students to visit Paris

Parlez vous Français?

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

There is an adage that the best way to learn about something is by experiencing it. Soon, a group of students in Romulus will get a chance to do just that.

The 14 youngsters who make up the French Club at Romulus High are raising money to help pay for a trip to France in April of 1984. The trip will be part of the Experiment in International Living program, which involves youngsters from all over the country.

Various ways of making money are being attempted by the French students. So far, they have sold food products door-to-door, and currently they are planning a raffle in December. A bake sale at the school, and a February dance are also on the agenda.

"Each student will need about $1,400 for the trip," said Jackie Riley, a French teacher at Romulus who is helping coordinate the trip. "Realistically, we don't expect them to earn that much with our activities, but everything they do earn will help."

"The businesses in the community have been very helpful to us," continued Riley. "They have contributed toward our raffle, and been very generous with our requests." The itinerary for the trip, which is scheduled to last 14 days, is divided into two sections. First of all, the students will spend four days in the City of Light, Paris, to see the sights and get a feel for the country.

After that, each student will spend time with a French family in their home.

"This way, the kids will really get a feel for the french, their customs, and their way of life," said Riley. "This will give them a wealth of opportunities to learn about the country and the people they have been studying about."

Anyone interested in helping the French Club get to France should keep their eyes open for raffle tickets for the scheduled December drawing. There are 15 prizes available, and a $200 television heads the list.

Task Force tackles Romulus teen drug abuse problem

The newly-formed Romulus Task Force Against Substance Abuse proposed a three-way approach toward drug and alcohol abuse at their inaugural meeting.

The task force, the result of the November 9 "The Chemical People" town meeting which brought concerned parents and students together to focus on the problem of substance abuse in Romulus, is seeking solutions to wide-spread use of illegal drugs by school-age children and young adults.

Headed by a panel of educators, counselors, police and students the community discussed how the school-age population is affected by both drugs and alcohol, and how to organize to deal with substance abuse at home and in the schools.

Concerns of the members of the task force varied.

However, the easy access of drugs and alcohol, negative peer pressures, insufficient recreation programs and activities, inadequate discipline and control of young people, understaffed youth division in the police department, and a lack of education for students and their parents about substance abuse were matters of general concern, the task force members concluded.

Members divided into three committees to look into school policies, education, and learning about what previously established task forces have done.

The committees will report back to the task force at their next meeting on Dec. 1 at Wick Elementary School library.

The meeting begins at 7:30. All concerned persons are invited to attend.

RPAC plans 'awards' recognition' program

Excellence in education merits a special recognition by the community.

With this in mind, the Romulus Parents Area Council will host an awards evening to say thank you to parents, teachers and administrators who were nominated by the community for their extra-special efforts on behalf of the students in Romulus schools.

RPAC will hold its first annual "Recognition for Participation, Achievement and Concern Awards" presentation on Dec. 2 at the Romulus Senior High School, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

There are 13 candidates, mostly teachers and educators, who have been nominated for the award, according to Howard Kesner, RPAC president. "We believe that these nominees have worked hard and long to help better our students and contribute to the field of education."

Among the nominees are: Richard Kruse, Mark Fernandez, Norman McFall, Michael Teasdale, Thomas Baldwin, Robert Brock, Al Sheffield, Carol Harrieff, Rose Raspberry, Bill Bowers, Julia James, Alice Kesner, and Paul Morgan.

Thanks for memories

Emerson says adieu to City Hall

By EVE SILBERMAN
ANP Staff Writer

Mayor Justin Emerson thought he had his farewell speech neatly patted place last week, when the city council slipped him one better by reading a special tribute to him at the close of the meeting.

The mayor stared pensively at the table while Councilman Robert Tontalo read off a long list of his accomplishments and contented himself with a short expression of appreciation. "I was afraid of choking up," he explained afterwards. "It's hard to say goodbye."

Other Belleville residents also found it difficult. "He's always been just as nice and helpful as he can be on anything you needed" said Chamber of Commerce Director Leona VanBuhler. "It's hard to imagine the city without him."

"He'll be a tough act to follow," acknowledged Emerson's successor (who takes office next week) Howard Stinehour. "I think all the citizens of Belleville have a tremendous amount of respect and affection for him. That about sums it up, doesn't it?"

Not quite. Emerson's retirement (after eight years at the city's helm) also brings an end to the "working mayor" system. And more than anyone before him, "Justy" Emerson was a working mayor.

"Because I'm retired, I've been in a unique position," he explained. "I worked pretty much full time, and people got used to having a mayor who was so available." "Now, we've switched (in March) to a city manager system, with Frank (Pascarella) here. Howard works full time. But just the same, he can expect a few calls at the office."

Justy Emerson knows all about those calls. The complaints about dogs. ("They're supposed to call the police department, but occasionally they got me.") The down-and-outers. ("People needing food, clothing, a place to stay. I put them in touch with folks who can help.") The don't-know-who-else-to-call crowd. ("People griping about the old standby's, taxes and parking tickets.")

The Barden Connection

Rod Church wants to turn you on to cable

By EVE SILBERMAN
ANP Staff Writer

Barden Cablevision's new trouble-shooter for the Van Buren-Romulus-Inkster system is the first to admit there's plenty of trouble his way that needs shooting.

For one thing, a lot of cable hungry households in Van Buren Township are waiting impatiently for their turn to be turned on.

"We're running more than a day late in Van Buren Township," candidly admits Rod Church, regional general manager of Barden Cablevision headquartered on Michigan Avenue in Inkster.

The original turn-on of the first 200 households in the township was delayed from July 1 to mid-September, partly because of the Bell Telephone strike last summer. (Bell workers provided necessary information about underground cable location.)

Currently, delays in getting parts have meant another slowdown. "The amplifiers and line exteriors we need are arriving in bits and pieces," said Church. "Since the economy began picking up, there's been a real boom in cable construction — and a corresponding shortage of parts."

Compounding the problem, current cable technology is still a "state-of-the-art system," Church said. "For every mile of mainline cable, you've got 100,000 potential problems. Little screws, transistors, — if you miss anything, the entire thing comes to a halt."

But Church emphasized, "We are seeing light at the end of the tunnel. In four weeks, at the latest, we'll resume construction in the areas where we've stopped. We'll complete all construction by the end of March, at the very latest. Maybe much earlier, depending on the weather this winter."

On the job a little more than a month, Church stressed that households will be hooked up "as quickly as possible" following initial cable construction. The company is continuing with a carefully delineated, four phase turn-on plan that began with Van Buren Estates and will conclude at the area south of I-94 and east of Sumpter Road.

(Areas scheduled next for cable construction include sections south of I-94 and east of Sumpter, and north of I-94 and west of Belleville Road.)

Church is the latest player on a team that, in August, scored a glittering cable coup with the successful bid for the Detroit franchise (approximately 400,000 homes). And he's here, he stressed, for a very specific purpose.

"I was brought on board to streamline this operation so as to allow the corporate people to concentrate 100 percent of their energies in Detroit," he said firmly. "I don't know what's going on in Detroit, and I don't care."

"My only interest is Barden Cablevision in Van Buren, Inkster, and Romulus — and drawing as large a number of satisfied customers as possible."

With Barden's Inkster system already delivering a "grab bag" of cable goodies to some 4,000 subscribers, Church is devoting most of his 14-hour work days to speeding up the Van Buren turn-on. Next in line: switching on the Romulus system.

A boyish looking 40, Church cheerfully acknowledges that his new position is "a challenge, to say the least." But hardly his first. A former musician and radio announcer ("I read Aunt Fanny's home recipes and the hog reports in Clinton, Iowa"), Church earned his stripes at some of the top cable firms in the field.

He spent six years as general manager of Heritage Communications in Des Moines — the 14th largest system in the country. Then, in 1978, he took over as regional operations manager of the even larger American Television Communications in Denver.

"In two years, I set up eight to nine systems in seven different states," he recalled. "I brought all the construction to completion before turning it over to management. I must have laid about 200 miles of cable."

Despite his bird's eye view of the cable scene, Church said that it's difficult to predict viewers' tastes. "It's hard to put a finger on why people get it," he said. "People have 30, 40 channels. They say they'll get it for one station, and then spend all their time watching something else."

I was brought on board to streamline this operation so as to allow the corporate people to concentrate 100 percent of their energies in Detroit.

Rod Church

"There's this little learning channel, Appalachian Community, and people go crazy over it," Church continued, "They just go crazy. It's nothing but adult ed. People buy it to learn about computers, American history, economics, for their jobs — or just for their own enjoyment."

Barden researchers have found some interesting statistics about Inkster subscribers' choices. More than 90 percent of subscribers want at least one "extra" channel, in addition to the basic dozen or so provided. About 80 percent of the viewers want Home Box Office (a general entertainment channel showing movies and concerts); 25 percent take the Movie Channel. A scant 1 percent are tuned into BRAVO, the "quasi cultural" station," Church calls it.

Not yet available to Inkster viewers — but very much in demand — is the controversial Playboy channel. "We get about 500 requests a month for it," Church said. "We haven't made a decision on whether to carry it."

"Ten or 15 years ago, that channel would never have gotten off the ground," Church said. "But it's really not what people think. The shows are pretty mild for anyone who has gone to the movies lately."

There's an art to enjoying the art of cable, according to Church. "You have to be willing to learn to use it, to experiment with the vast array of channels," he said. "It's like port to the local band," he recalled. "We traveled all over the midwest, backing singers like Brenda Lee and Chuck Barry. But I was always the one who worried about the contracts of how we were paid, while everyone else just worried about the music."

Following a stint at the Midwestern Broadcasting School in Chicago, he worked at small-to-medium sized radio stations in the midwest. "I started as a $65 dollar a week writer and worked my way up to manager in Clinton," he said. "Then I decided I was ready for a change."

Barden's "open atmosphere" is a welcome contrast to other places he's worked, Church said. "The cable industry is pretty much of a closed industry," he said. "It started out as a mom-and-pop thing, then went into the good old boy network that more or less excluded women and minorities."

"What I like about Barden is that it's both a very human kind of company and a very businesslike one," Church emphasized. "Don Barden is more sensitive than most business executives I've met. This is a minority owned firm that draws many different kinds of people, and gives them a chance to advance."

"The long work hours — combined with a daily commute from Toledo — haven't diminished Church's enthusiasm for his new job. "I get a lot of satisfaction in launching a new system," he said. "It's very rewarding."

And to relax on his days off, he turns to cable TV. "I'd spend all day watching the sports channel if I could," Church declared. "But my wife's the one who really gets a lot of viewing in, waiting for me to come home from work."

A graduate of the "university of hard knocks," Church showed his business acumen early in life. The son of a Wisconsin dairy farmer, he spent more time playing guitar with an early rock and roll group than he did in school.

Dreidel Game... A Sweet Hanukkah Tradition

During this festive holiday season, when the Christian world is commemorating the miracle of the birth of Christ, Jews are also reminded of a miracle which makes Hanukkah a significant holiday in this season of good cheer.

Like most Jewish holidays, Hanukkah—the feast of lights—combines joy with solemnity. The holiday, which means rededication, commemorates an ancient fight and victory to preserve the Jewish religion and traditions.

At holiday time, Jewish children are told the story of Judah Maccabeus, who, with a small courageous band of followers, led a successful fight against the Syrian-Greek oppressor Antiochus in 164 B.C. The temple, which had been seized, was recaptured, and the joyous people set about to rededicate it. But when it came time for the rededication ceremonies, only one flask of oil was to be found—enough to burn for one day. Then a miracle occurred... The oil lasted for eight days. Thereafter, Hanukkah has been an eight-day holiday.

In keeping with the joyous mood of the season, the celebration of Hanukkah tends to take on some of the popular aspects of Christmas. Gifts are exchanged, homes are decorated and festive meals are planned.

One strictly Hanukkah custom that's perfect for the young set is the Dreidel game, a top spinning game of chance for which the traditional rewards are mounds of delicious candies or other sweet-eating confections.

The National Confectioners Association recommends using small confections, either individually-wrapped hard candies or bite-sized bars or other miniatures, as the prizes. Marshmallows, chewing gum or gum drops are also enticing to youngsters playing the Dreidel game.

The Dreidel is a four-sided top marked with four Hebrew letters which direct the play of the game. The letters are N meaning "nin" or nothing; G meaning "gantz" or all; H meaning "halb" or half and S which means "shtetl" or put in.

Everyone starts the game with 10 or 15 candies of which he puts one in the "pot." The Dreidel is spun by one player at a time, whose fate is determined by the fall of the top. If N comes up, the player does nothing; G and he takes everything in the pot; H and he takes half of what is in the pot; and S, he adds two candies to the pot. When one person has won all the candy, the game is over.

Dreidels are available in stores where religious items are sold, can be purchased already filled with confections in specialty stores, or can be made simply from cardboard, papier-mache or clay.

Quotes worth quoting...

"When you have to weigh every word and prejudge your every action, a friendship ceases to be fun; in fact, it ceases!"

Golden wedding celebrations

• Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Sell •

A reception honoring the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Sell Sr. of 36181 Pennsylvania Road, Romulus, took place Nov. 5 at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Britton.

Guests were present from Oscoda, Redford, Saranac, Carleton, Ann Arbor, Blissfield, Britton, Fremont, Ind. and Toledo, O. and included two members of the Sell's wedding party, Mrs. Mabel Ristow of Romulus and Mrs. Viola Malvitz of Taylor.

Harold Rudolf Sell took Lillian Clara Knofski of Romulus as his bride on Nov. 4, 1933 at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of Taylor. To their union were born three sons and five daughters. Party planners and hosts at the party, they include Harold Sell Jr. and his wife, Virginia of Romulus; Byron Sell and his wife, Pat, of Blissfield; Anna Staffeld and her husband, Don, of Romulus; Karen Siebarth and her husband, Bruce, of Britton; Elaine Lavender and her husband, Tom, of Canton; Edwin Sell and his wife, Sue, of Fremont, Ind.; Cindy Wiefiaert and her husband, Dave, of Britton; and Eileen Sell of Romulus. There are also 18 grandchildren on the family tree.

Residents of Romulus all their married lives, the Sells have been engaged in farming and with her son, Byron, Mrs. Sell still takes produce to the Eastern Market in Detroit. They are members of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of New Boston.

The golden-theme wedding cake served at the celebration was baked by Mrs. Ervin Michaels of Carleton. Another cake baked by Marge Beaubien of South Rockwood honored the first birthday of the Sell's youngest grandchild, Amber Siebarth.

Monica and Bruce Siebarth took charge of decorating the church hall while Mrs. Albert Wiefiaert arranged table centerpieces using mums and baby's breath from her own garden.

• Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wright •

An open house, hosted by their family, will honor Earl and Katherine Wright of 10486 Willis Road, Willis, on their approaching golden wedding anniversary. The Dec. 4 celebration, from two to five in the afternoon, will be held at Lincoln Community Church.

Life-long members of the area, the Wrights were married Feb. 2, 1934 in New Boston. Their family tree includes three children: Richard who lives with his wife, Deanna, in Milan; Harry and his wife, Dolly, of Saline; and Doris Hansen and her husband, Paul, of Willis; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

A self-employed farmer for some 50 years, "Earl" is well-known throughout the state, having filled the role of an auctioneer for some 47 years. He also worked as a custodian from 1965-75 at Lincoln Consolidated School and drove a Lincoln school bus for 14 years prior to that.

His wife, a full-time homemaker, also was a school bus driver for Lincoln and worked for the Willis Post Office from 1946-1972. She has been retired since that time and her husband since 1975.

Social worker speaks

The November meeting of the GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club was held Nov. 16 at the Lauren Court home of Kitty Davies. Attended by 20 members and guests, it includes prospective members Jan McMillan and Becky Judy, both of Van Buren Township.

Pat Spence, social worker in the psychiatric unit of Providence Hospital in Detroit, was guest speaker for the evening, as the group studied substance abuse with special emphasis on drunk driving.

A presentation was also made by member Kitty Miller who discussed the "Giving Tree" project currently underway in the lobby of National Bank of Detroit. She stressed that the list of needy children had grown dramatically this year and that 300 names and ornaments were now hanging on the tree.

Final plans were made for club members to have a booth at the Van Buren Art Festival Dec. 3-4 to sell Water Under The Bridge — A History of Van Buren Township, a book co-authored by members Diane Wilson and Cathy Horste; the history-oriented Township Monopoly Game and the newly-available historic stationery.

The hostess served coffee, tea, and fruit cakes and breads at the close of the meeting. The next meeting of the club will be the annual Christmas party Dec. 21.

The 7 lb., 15 oz. baby, who measured 20½ inches, is the new sister of Tara Jessica Sutfin, who's 18-months-old.

Her proud grandparents are L. T. and Leona Sutfin of Glens Fork, Ky. and Beatrice Lazar of Ferndale.

Ronalee's mother is the former Nicolette Lazar.

EDITOR'S NOTE: News of your baby's birth, that of a grandchild—in this area or elsewhere—or that of former residents are welcome additions to this column. Call 697-9191 with your information.

September Seniors selling cookbooks

Everyone can use a good cookbook and the September Days Seniors have their own version printed, bound and ready for holiday purchases. As a gift or stocking stuffer, the "September Days Cookbook" offers over 300 varied recipes from men and women in the area whose names you're very likely to recognize as contributors.

Unusual and unique in many instances, the book also offers sections for weight watchers and those on special diets. The cost is a mere $3.50.

Books are currently available at the Senior Center in the Van Buren Township Hall on Tyler Road. Stop by and purchase a couple for the culinary artists on your list. Proceeds from the sale go into a very special coffer—that which will eventually purchase a new van for the center.

Hints, tips, clues and suggestions for a better-than-ever holiday season are definitely in order now that Thanksgiving has been filed away for another year and the count-down for the Big Day is in progress.

As a starter, particularly since you ought to know before you take-to-the-mails, here's how to avoid any extra postage.

- First-class mail weighing one ounce or less takes a 20-cent stamp; add 17 cents for each additional ounce up to 12. Over 12 ounces your "letter" becomes a package.
- Add nine cents postage if the envelope length exceeds 11½ inches or the width is over 6½ inches or the thickness exceeds ¼ inch.
- Minimum size is still 3½ by 5 inches.
- Another rule stipulates that mail must be rectangular — no round or triangular cards or envelopes, please.
- And — it still pays to do your Christmas mailing early.

IF YOU'RE as fortunate as we and are serenaded by carolers each Yuletide season, you might want to add "something different" when you offer the "chorale" something to sooth their vocal chords.

We were taken by surprise our first December in Tecumseh to suddenly hear voices raised in "Deck the Halls" outside our picture window. All we were able to offer the octet that time were our smiles and thanks.

The second year, despite being jolted from a lethargic Sunday-before-the-fire, we did have the presence of mind to ask the group of young-marrieds if their appearance was an annual event in the neighborhood and learned they "called" the Sunday evening before Christmas. Fortunately, we had a platter of cookies to offer. Since our house is off-the-beaten-path from others in our "compound," we feel doubly honored that they take the time to climb the unlighted hill behind us.

Having learned to pencil "carolers" in on the calendar, we've since had cider, both hot and cold, ready for their visits the past two years. A tray of styrofoam cups helps speed up the process since they never accept an offer to "step inside" because of their too-warm clothing.

This Dec. 18th (and it's a mere three weeks away, I hate to tell you), we're "entertaining" with a hot spiced wine as well as cold cider. The HSW was a treat provided by our competition Sunday during couples' bowling. A real warmer-upper, it should be excellent for the songsters (as well as for the never-say-die golf tournament we're signed up to play in next Sunday.)

HOT SPICED WINE

- | | |
|--------------------------------|----------------------|
| 2 qts. dry red wine (burgundy) | 15-20 whole allspice |
| 4 cups water | 15-20 whole cloves |
| 1 cup sugar | 4 sticks cinnamon. |
| 1 lemon sliced | |

Combine water and sugar in saucepan large enough to hold all ingredients. Heat over low burner until sugar is completely dissolved, then add wine, lemon and spices. Simmer on low (do not boil) for about 1½ hours. A slow-cooking crockpot is an ideal method to use, we were told.

Some readers might be telling themselves they know a Steve Kelsey who used to live in Belleville. He's one and the same, only now Tecumseh claims him as a resident.

HAPPY CHANUKAH

RUSHED AND HARRIED as you seem to be at this season, it's worth while to take a day just-for-enjoying. If you're a gift shoppe, arts and crafts or antiques buff, there are three areas I'd highly recommend for your special day — Holly, Brighton and Plymouth — the latter with its many little boutiques and excellent eating places one many of you already know.

Holly is somewhat of a drive but with decent weather and a good conversationalist at your side, the time flies. The city itself is nondescript (a pity for a place that sounds so pretty) but the section called Battle Alley is really fun with its little specialty shops.

A second visit to the historic area (Carrie Nation did her bar-smashing there) confirmed an earlier opinion that it was special.

It's even mentioned in the Holiday Festivals article in this month's Better Homes and Gardens. Not only is it fun to browse through the "alley" stores but on the Saturdays and Sundays prior to Dec. 25 a Dickens theme adds an English holiday touch to the proceedings.

By all means, plan on lunching at the Holly Hotel (make a reservation as soon as you arrive) since the food is outstanding. The trappings are quite modest and in keeping with the historic nature of the place, so don't expect elegance.

We ran into Channel 7's Eric Smith and a camera crew doing footage of last Friday's activities and later, during our stop in Brighton, saw PM Magazine's van.

As you return via Fenton, don't miss the Christmas Shoppe at Gerych Greenhouse. Their display of decorated trees — utterly gorgeous! — will have you ready to toss all your old stuff and start anew.

Brighton, a lot closer to home and once known mainly for its "canopied" restaurant, now boasts of a mini-mall of distinctive selections as well as numerous other specialty shops. If it's the unusual and unique you're seeking — French country, wreaths, bears, chocolates, quilts, tinwear, coffee and teas, kitchen accessories, stenciling, photography, artwork — these three spots should definitely be circled on your "day-off" map. There will be crowds, be forewarned!

YOUR CHRISTMAS decorations, wrappings, extra cards, etc. are tucked away in the attic, basement or loft and when you're shopping you can't remember how much paper or ribbon, seals or icicles, spare bulbs or fuses you have and it's a pain to dig things out this early, right?

What to do? Not much right now (other than rummaging through the stuff) but for next year, make a list of what you have and what you need and tuck it in your Christmas card book. You DO keep it separate from the holiday trappings, don't you?

As you complete your gift-wrapping, card-writing, tree-trimming and house-decorating routines, you can merely jot down what's left and what's needed. At our place our address book is actually our card record and is kept handy in a drawer for easy reference any time of the year.

THE BOTTOM LINE: Twenty years ago we were told we weren't as smart as our parents. Today we're not as smart as our kids. Where did we go wrong?

Goodfellows

Won't you contribute?

The glittering signs of Christmas are upon us again.

Christmas songs on the radios. TV commercial. In stores and shopping centers, the holiday music is everywhere. Trees sparkling with their colorful and bright ornaments, and shoppers bustling through the crowds, in and out of stores and shopping centers.

It is, indeed, Christmastime.

It is a time of giving.

But for hundreds and thousands of children, Christmas won't come unless you help. Few of us could bear the disappointed look of a child on Christmas Day who doesn't have a gift to unwrap. But, yes, for thousands there are such Christmas mornings.

We can understand the realities of economics. We can understand that people without jobs — and there are millions — can't afford the luxury of buying gifts. Their thoughts are on the necessities of life like food, clothing, shelter. Children rarely grasp the cold facts of what it means to be out of work.

It is truly difficult to believe in our day and age there are children, and adults, who go to sleep hungry. But even in the best of times many live in poverty.

This weekend on main intersections in your cities and townships, the Goodfellows will be manning their familiar corners selling their traditional newspapers.

The tradition of selling of Goodfellow newspapers goes back some 70 years. The proceeds raised from the sales of those papers will be spent on gift boxes which will contain clothes, toys, food and candy for the families in need.

The Goodfellows, made up of civic leaders, members of the police and fire departments, and volunteers are not asking for much — a small donation will go a long way.

And maybe this year there truly will be "No Child Without a Christmas".

Recall

Message to Lansing

Recall supporters had a lot to cheer about last week when Pontiac voters were successful in ousting from office, legislator Philip C. Mastin.

Mr. Mastin, a Democrat from the 8th senatorial district, was one of a score of senators who supported Governor James Blanchard's proposal for a 38 percent hike in the state income tax.

Also waiting to hear from voters in his district is David M. Serotkin, (D-Mount Clemens) who faces a recall election this week.

Locally, Patrick H. McCollough (D-Dearborn), whose senatorial district includes Inkster, and Justine Barns, who is serving her first term in the state House and represents Westland are also in the line of fire.

No one will dispute the voters' right to recall an official they have placed in office.

And, indeed, the voters should put an elected official in the unemployment lines if they feel he or she is not doing the job they had promised to do.

Elected officials may be the legislators, but, in the final analysis, the voters are the judges. If a man or woman isn't doing the job you hired him to do, you dispose of him. It's that simple.

Some European governments use "the vote of confidence" as the basis of government. If the elected official has lost that confidence, new elections are scheduled.

There appears to be a feeling that our legislators will become impotent if they are ousted from office "over one issue."

We disagree with that sentiment.

The trouble with legislators is that their memories are ephemeral. They forget what they promised during campaigns, "We won't raise taxes," or "we'll find alternative solutions to our fiscal problems" is rhetoric we have all heard during political campaigns.

And, then what occurs? They go right ahead and raise taxes. Thank goodness some voters don't forget, and are willing to work and prove the democratic system is still alive and well in Michigan.

editorial feedback

A case for recall

As District Co-ordinator of the Recall McCollough Committee, I would like this opportunity to address the remarks made by Lorenzo A. Moner, Jr., in a recent letter, "Is this recall necessary," November 8-9, 1983.

Mr. Montgomery, chairman of the committee, NEVER gave the impression that he was a resident of the City of Inkster. That impression was made solely in the form of a printing error.

The recall of Senator McCollough is a "grass roots" effort made up of a cross section of people residing in the Senator's district. Petitioners and those signing the petition are housewives, college students, blue and white collar workers and more interestingly, retirees not affected by the tax increase but are well aware of the impact that it is having on their children.

Additionally, the recall group IS a non-partisan group working without the help of any political party. I would also point out that the one Republican who did vote for the tax increase, Senator Harry DeMaso, has been targeted for recall. The remaining pro votes were on the part of the Democratic majority.

As far as feeling that we were being faithfully represented by the previous administration, I would apprise Mr. Moner of the fact that there were two recall campaigns initiated against Governor Milliken, the most recent occurring in 1982, when he pushed through a temporary tax increase in the same manner as did Governor Blanchard and the 38 percent state income tax increase. Where were you then, Mr. Moner?

Mr. Moner, I would like to know who the "rest of us" are that are "fed up with these recall groups?" Who are these people who would infringe upon my CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT to petition for redress of grievances? I CAN petition sir, and because of these rights, you do not have to sign my petition.

You have implied that the Senator should be applauded for his courageous stand on this issue. You then go on to mention specific areas that YOU feel we should be concerned about, such as the education of our young people.

Mr. Moner, have you ever wondered why the City of Inkster has five school districts?

Do you not find it insane knowing that the students living on the south side of Avondale are not allowed to attend Cherry Hill High School on the north side of Avondale? WHY, with a constant decline in enrollment, do your school tax dollars continue to increase and support five Boards of Education? — But you do think the cost of a recall election would be a burden to the taxpayer!!!

The other areas mentioned that YOU feel need our concern and attention are the senior citizens, the unemployed and the physically and mentally handicapped. I find it more than coincidence that Senator McCollough plays a major role in appropriating funds for these areas.

Recently, the Senator requested a meeting with Rose Bogaert, Chairperson of the Wayne County Taxpayers' Association, Inc. I was present. Ms. Bogaert suggested that there be two tape recorders running simultaneously so no one would be misquoted at a later date. The Senator refused! Why Mr. Moner? The Senator is the one running around claiming that the recall committee is running a campaign of half-truths.

I asked the Senator two crucial questions: Did he vote his conscience or the will of his constituents? He said, "Both." (How can this be done, Mr. Moner?) The second question was: how can you justify your vote for an increase in state spending? He said he couldn't!

If the State of Michigan is on the verge of bankruptcy as the Senator would have us believe, why have the legislators not rescinded their salary increases?

If YOU are truly looking for a "blatant" waste of taxpayer money, I suggest you contact your state representative or Senator McCollough and request copies of the state budget, the Auditor General's Report and the House and Senator Journals. The education you receive will be over-whelming.

I rest my case!

Santa needs your help

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

Santa needs help.

News from the North Pole is that, despite many, many contributions from his friends and benefactors, he still may not be able to make it to some of the homes in this area because of a shortage of funds.

And, Old Saint Nick doesn't like to remind folks "but there are a lot of youngsters who are depending upon him — and only him — to come through on Christmas."

"I know times are rough," Santa said via telephone yesterday. "But I have people up here working 24-hours, around the clock, to meet deadlines. And Christmas Eve isn't that far away. A lot of good people have helped, but we're coming up short."

This particular Santa has played Santa each year ever since 1939. In recent years he has paid special attention to the children at the Plymouth Child Development Center, the kids in the Norwayne Subdivision and those at the Rose Kennedy Respite Center. He figures he has brought smiles on to more than 500 children's faces, thanks to your donations.

Santa's goal this year is to raise $2,000. It seems like a lot of money — and it is. However, if each digs into his pocket or pocketbook and comes out with the loose change, betcha we can help Old Nick do his thing again this year.

And, if you haven't guessed who our Santa is... well he's none other than Gene Reaves who could step into Monte Wooley's role (A Miracle on 54th Street) and play it without rehearsal.

"I have been doing this now for nearly 20 years," Reaves points out, "and each year I remain fascinated by the look on these children's faces when they hear Santa has arrived and see me entering the room."

"For one moment everything in the world is right, and you know that the God up there is looking down and smiling. I know we'll raise the money somehow or somehow because there are a lot of good people in this world."

"And, I just hope I can continue to do this for the rest of my life."

So, get out your loose change or your pen and check book. Mail your contributions to Santa's Christmas Fund, Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184.

Help Santa put a smile on a child's face at Christmas.

Thank you.

On the other side of the page is an editorial devoted to recalls, a political tool I personally don't believe in. Yes, I will defend with words the right of the electorate to use democratic means to oust those from office whom they feel do not serve their constituency. However, I just wonder how many of those voters took time out to cast their ballots in November.

Recalls would not be necessary if voters studied the candidates during the campaign; recalls cost taxpayers money — money they say they don't have.

I can see seeking a candidate who will beat the incumbent in the next regular election.

But, then, why not call your city or township clerk and ask just how many persons voted in your community in the last election?

Westlander has note for councilmen

EDITOR — This is an open letter to Westland City Councilmen Robert Wagner, Thomas Artley, Ben DeHart and Kent Herbert and Mayor Charles Pickering.

How any of you can keep misreading the signs and claim a mandate or victory of your past policies is beyond me.

Do you all reside in Ohio and commute here daily?

Each of you have one thing in common. I voted for each of you, and for Mayor Pickering in the previous election. Thank you Mayor Pickering for lowering my taxes. If you don't fall into the Socialist trap of taxing the worker to death and spend, spend, spend, I shall vote for you again.

You were an unknown quantity when I voted for you.

Mr. Thomas Brown, your opposition, with his public record and the support of the UAW had been and would have continued to be bad news.

Thank you also for the smart but noticeable improvement in the police department. They have been responding to calls and doing something instead of finding reasons why they can't.

We, the taxpayers, expect police and fire protection and I appreciate the councilmen for preserving those two fire stations that were going to be closed.

After police and fire protection come all other programs if there is any money left. Frugality, austerity and honesty are the watchwords.

Now, councilmen, before you get yourselves puffed up that I and others returned you to office, ponder this. I have not been too happy with you and I was set to vote for your opponents and would have, but for the "Kiss of Death" from the UAW. They called my home as they did many others and urged me to vote for your opponents.

I knew beyond all reasonable doubt that as bad as you were that I would be worse off financially and freedomwise with your opponents. While we need unions — we need unions that are responsible to the people they collect the dues from. We really need unions where every official is elected by all union members. Unions that do not spend $25,000.00, part of which are my dues, to defeat an honest property tax break for all workers and others who own property.

They have no consideration for the union dues payer — especially after I have sent $20 of my own money to help support this much needed legislation.

Believe it or not, the worm is turning. Taxpayers have had enough and recalls may become the norm of the day. Of course, anyone who tries to find out what the majority of the voters wish and votes accordingly will have nothing to fear.

Romulus teachers
scolded

EDITOR — In response to the teacher who wrote of 'silly season' in Romulus, well, indeed she's right! It's definitely 'silly season' when adult teachers chose to take their gripes out on elementary children.

She wrote that schools weren't having parties because the teachers chose not to do any extra volunteer work.

Now, come on! How much extra work do you as a teacher really have to do for a party?

Parents send in the treats and, if asked, would have been glad to chaperone the party. You would have had to do nothing! Maybe the children should take an example from the adults and wear black arm bands to protest "No Parties".

And please tell me, were all principals also directed not to celebrate Halloween parties as stated?

If so, what happened at Barth Elementary?

I know for a fact these children didn't have parties! But, I do have to give the junior and senior high schools credit. They did allow the children to wear costumes to school. How's that for priorities?

Why don't teachers just admit this is another form of blackmail? When are they going to realize they are just hurting themselves by all these antics? You lost a lot of votes for the millage over these stunts.

Looks, everyone realizes a 22½ percent cut in wages hurts but, believe me you're not alone. The auto workers have also had to take cuts. How would you like it if the auto workers didn't build cars as safe as they should just to get even for having to take cuts in wages?

And it's not just auto workers either. Some people don't even have a job to go to!

I suggest if teachers are dissatisfied working in Romulus, seek employment elsewhere. I'm sure there are laid off teachers willing to take their place at your pay!

You're right about one thing, maybe — it is time for Romulus citizens to voice their opinions. But I won't guarantee that you'll like what they say.

Thanks to Westland voters

EDITOR — We want to thank the voting members of our community who gave us a vote of confidence in our struggle to improve the government in Westland.

Our victory, through your vote on election day, was particularly satisfying given the vast amount of misinformation put out by our opponents. You sorted through the facts and made your decision at the polls.

We are ready to continue serving you and with your continued support we will work to solve the problems of recent years. Thanks again to you, this newspaper for its careful review of the local situation, and to our many workers including the Seniors.

We intend to fulfill the trust you have put in us.

Support is appreciated

EDITOR — The election for Wayne city council is over with, and I just want to say "thank you" to all of those who voted and worked so hard to try and get me elected to the city council.

You did a great job even though we lost the election.

We didn't lose everything, we still have the respect of the community and that is the most important thing to me.

We ran a good clean campaign and made no promises that couldn't have been kept. And we owe no political debts to anyone. I would like to congratulate those who won. I hope they will live up to their promises they made to the people.

Thank you again folks for your support and hard work.

Feel free to call me any time. I am in the phone book.

Kindness remembered

EDITOR: We, the directors of the Plymouth Seventh-day Adventist Church Community Services Center and Plymouth Wildcats, Pathfinders Club want to warmly thank the members of this community for the generous donations to our annual food and clothing drive.

The kindness of the people in this community will be long remembered by the hungry this holiday season.

Our center has been able to help already 12 hungry families before Thanksgiving since the community donated over 1000 canned goods and countless bags of clothing last November 1. This does not include the many food boxes to be distributed to the needy this season.

We would also like to thank the Canton Kroger Store for their gifts of food throughout the year to needy residents. It's inspiring to be a part of this community while they get involved helping their less fortunate neighbors.

Thank you and God Bless You.

EDITOR: The Romulus Historical Society would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank Mr. Frank Smythe, a Certified Public Accountant in the firm of Post, Smythe, Lutz, and Ziel of Wayne, Michigan for his expertise in helping the Society file its annual reports.

Mr. Smythe has just completed the Society's Annual Report for Non-Profit Corporations in the State of Michigan, free of charge. Without his assistance, the Romulus Historical Society could not maintain its Non-Profit Corporation status, Internal Revenue Tax-Exempt status, and Charitable Trust Organization standing. Each must be completed and filed annually.

The accounting firm of Post, Smythe, Lutz and Ziel recently moved into new and larger offices at 35518 Park Street in downtown Wayne, one block south of Michigan Avenue.

Patience, like in raising kids

When six children lived in my house, along with a husband and George (our dog), and there was one bathroom upstairs and one bathroom downstairs, it gave a lot of food for a column and a lot of fuel for letters saying they didn't like all those bathroom stories.

I never could really figure out about those letters... because bathrooms are necessary rooms in any home as anyone can easily tell when threatened with the most embarrassing moment in his life and embarrassing moments make up the funniest columns... I thought.

I can remember the time I was desperately trying to teach my kids patience. I was trying to be an example, and that is how come there is a post in the basement with big dents in it. When I couldn't stand being patient any longer and since I was the model for patience, being the mother and all that, I used to run down and beat my head against that post.

Naturally, the kids would all follow me down, and George (our dog) would run around in circles, barking and yapping with every bounce of the head against that pole. The kids, bless their little hearts, didn't associate my actions with not being patient and they all got a big kick out of it, thinking I was doing it solely for their entertainment.

Well, it was one of those days, and my biggest boy got in the bathroom to count the whiskers he thought were growing on his chin, when my littlest boy needed to go. He screeched, and he howled and he kicked the door, but the biggest kid wasn't about to disturb his concentration. Finally the noise up there showed me the urgency of intervening, and I leaped up the stairs and began pounding on the door. "Let your little brother in," I shouted, and he shouted back, "Oh, Maw, just a minute. Can't he wait just a minute?"

So I turned to the little one and I gave him a lecture on patience and the need for patience in one's interaction with others, and he looked up at me with those big blue eyes, and he said, "I AM being patient," and he gave the door a mighty whack with his foot.

"That is not showing patience," I pointed out.

"I am too being patient," he howled. "If I wasn't being patient how come I don't have wet pants!"

I thought when those kids all grew up and my youngest went off to college that those days were all over, and one could luxuriate in a bubble bath without any disturbance.

That was before my husband retired and our youngest came home from college. When she got home she found that we were in California, and she was lonely so she went out into an alley and found a shivering little cat, and brought her home and dubbed her 'Alley.' That cat comforted her while she waited for her parents to come home, and the snow to melt on the sidewalks, although I don't know what that has to do with the story.

By the time we got home 'Alley' had found a soul mate and so she was bursting at the seams with new life.

Five little kittens were the result of that rendezvous, and for two months we stumbled over cat and kittens until they were finally old enough to take to a pet store where they found new homes. All that is, except Alley and one kitten which my kid kept back from the others, so that when I came home that day thinking I was going to walk into a quiet home, there were two cats leaping into my lap... Alley and her son, Peer Gynt... PG for short.

And that is how it all came about that on Sunday morning I closed the glass doors of my shower, turned on the water and reveled in the luxury of warm water flowing over my cellent instructor in the horrors of the aftermath of nuclear destruction. That is what — in the final days before it aired, anyway — the film pretended to be.

Instead, we were given a crude and careless Hollywood production — and a whole lot of us felt pandered to and cheated.

Being the visual, intimate medium that it is (it spreads its message to us without our ever having to leave our easy chairs), what more perfect tool than television to force us out of our complacency and into considering the implications of nuclear folly.

And, in all fairness, it was the perfect tool that night — but only after the closing credits of the movie.

The panel discussion afterward, led by Ted Koppel, was more frightening (and thus, more meaningful) than any ten Hollywoodized "look what the bomb can do" movies. We were exposed to extraordinary (and authentic) dialogue between hawks and doves and sition scenes — the scenes crucial toward making the chain-of-events flow — were the ones eventually sacrificed. So, by not being privy to those all-important scenes, we were never given the chance to explore the characters or understand their actions, even to figure out what they were doing much of the time — or how they were getting from one place to another.

I spent more time being irritated by deletions or obvious errors than I did in believing "this could be real." (Not that I don't believe the situation itself could be real — I believe it only too well — I just didn't believe there was anything real about that typical and insufferably trite movie. Didn't we know, for instance, when we zoomed in with the camera as Jason Robards attached the watch to his wife's arm, that he would eventually find that watch in the rubble somewhere? And didn't he?)

Done in intelligent, semi-documentary fashion, the movie could have been an ex-

body. I thought I was alone. I hummed a little, and I blew at the water coming at me, and I even laughed out loud when I thought of something funny.

"Hush that noise," a voice came from not two feet away, and then a wild shriek, "Da-a-a-a-d, I NEED This sink."

"How do you think I'm going to put my eyes in, if you don't get out of my way..."

"V... But dad, I have a date, and he's going to be here any minute, and I have to finish my face..."

"Not before I put my eyes in..."

Noise! Invasion of privacy. I grabbed a towel, opened the doors of the shower, and hollered, "Hey... I am in this bathroom..." put one foot out and touched a furry something. Time stood still — there I was suspended in that time, one foot upraised, a towel wrapping my nakedness, one daughter standing at the sink, one husband pushing her aside, trying to put his contacts in... and TWO cats staring unblinkingly at me... and my patience pole a long way downstairs.

humanists — and no matter on which side we stood, that was meaty conversation we could chew on.

So, if "The Day After" did anything, it caused 100 million or more of us to focus our combined attention, for one evening anyway, on the very real possibility of nuclear disaster.

And, judging from the week's worth of mass hysteria prior to the airing of the film, it did something else, too: It brought our fears out of the closet and into the fore — where, if we're wise, we'll confront them and deal with them — and then make them take a back seat to reason.

Then maybe we'll finally let reason deal with the push-button maniacs of this world — by taking their atomic toys away until they're old enough to play with them the right way.

'The Day After'-maddening

As "The-end-of-the-world-as-we-know-it" stories go, "The Day After," ABC's version of a modern-day Armageddon, was, after all that fuss, only so-so. Except for the scenes of the bombs going off (for the most part, actual footage taken at test-sites over the years), it was too hokey and too ho-hum to be scary (which, in this case, translates to "meaningful").

Despite all the hype, despite all the "day after 'The Day After'" crisis centers, despite all the warnings about not letting children watch it, and the cautions about watching it alone, it still ended up being nothing more than a pretty mediocre made-for-TV disaster movie. The usual stuff...and that's more than disappointing — it's maddening.

The original four-hour version was chopped to two hours and 15 minutes in order to show it all in one evening — and that may have been the first mistake: In order to leave in the action scenes, we have to assume that the tran-

"You've changed."

It's time to get reacquainted with your phone bill.

When you go to your mail box and find your next phone bill, you'll notice it's changed in some ways. For example, there'll be more pages because the billing information will be more extensive and listed differently. These initial changes are the result of Michigan Bell's upcoming separation from AT&T on January 1, 1984.

We'd like to explain these changes. Probably the first and most important thing to understand is that after January 1, 1984, your Michigan Bell bill may include charges from Michigan Bell and AT&T or other long distance service companies, but you'll continue to pay the total bill to Michigan Bell.

Your billing information will be in three general categories:

Basic Service.

In the future, Michigan Bell will continue to provide and bill your basic telephone service, as well as your local and zone usage. Included in your monthly service could be Custom Calling, Touch-Tone® Service, or optional calling plan charges. Michigan Bell will also bill you for any directory assistance charges you incur.

Long Distance.

Your long distance calls will be separated between those provided by Michigan Bell and those that after January 1, 1984, are provided by other long distance carriers but may be billed by Michigan Bell. They will appear on separate pages.

Telephone Equipment Charges.

In the past, your telephone equipment charge was added into your charge for basic service. Now it will be itemized on a separate page. Ownership of the equipment Michigan Bell now provides you for a monthly fee will soon be transferred from Michigan Bell to AT&T.

Phone numbers will be listed on your bill to call if you have questions about your billing or service. And when you receive your new bill in December, a bill insert will clarify the various pages of the bill in much greater detail.

We want to do whatever we can to help you understand the changes that are taking place in your phone company. Please remember...

Chrysler plans pavilion at Expo

Chrysler Corporation today unveiled plans for a pavilion at next summer's Louisiana World Exposition. The Chrysler exhibit will demonstrate graphically how a smokestack industry transformed itself into an electronic, computer-assisted, state-of-the-art, high-tech company. The two-level 20,000 square foot pavilion, shaped like the Chrysler Corporation's Pentastar, will contain a theater where 500 people at a time will see a specially-created motion picture on how American industry is using modern technology to build quality products efficiently. The ground level will have exhibits of the latest technology including industrial robots, computer-aided design, computer-aided manufacturing, and electronics in automobiles, offices and homes. Bennett E. Bidwell, Chrysler Corporation Executive Vice President, Office of the Chairman, announced Chrysler's par-

Boy, that long weekend really takes it's toll, doesn't it? I'm just now getting back to stride after eating bodacious amounts of turkey and visiting with friends. Most of the conversations I sat in on were of a fairly narrow scope — the Detroit Lions, snowmobiling and cars! You're probably not surprised!

After my lecture last week about automobiles and economics, I shouldn't get into this, but one of the guys I talked to brought up a major point that shouldn't go unnoticed. It was relative to snowmobiles, but it carries over to cars and motorcycles, and I guess everything else.

Briefly, he simply started talking about "what price technology?" We had reminisced to earlier winters and some really outstanding trail rides... the Lewiston area seemed to be a favorite... south out of Lewiston toward Red Oaks, maybe over to Muskrat Lake for some narrow twistys, Mio for gas and oil and food, then the long ride back — easily riding 125-150 miles per weekend.

Ten years ago, we rode two cylinder two strokes, air-cooled, that carried two people. I don't think any of us had over $1,000 into his sled; we suffered bogey wheel suspensions, leaf spring steering and the perpetual requirement to carry oil to mix with the gas.

Today, high technology brings us oil injection, liquid cooling, independent front suspension, slide rail rear suspension, electric hand warmers, standard instrumentation including speedometer and tach, etc. etc. etc. And a cheap sled today is $1,500, an average price is $2,500 and the hi-speed guys pay $5,000! You see the point? Far fewer people participate in the sport cause the costs are too high... without question the sleds are better, but the market is much more limited. Somehow, the race to higher technology left the basics behind.

Granted, the gas crunch that limited people's ability to get up north had an impact, but the industry's race to glory helped out enormously! Of the three of us 'trail-tigers,' only one even has a sled left to ride. I guess we're too cheap to pay for technology.

Welcome back, Arctic Cat! This fine trail tourer from Thief River Falls, Minn. is back on the market after an absence of several years. And congratulations Chuck's Cycle, on Michigan Avenue in Canton, for being appointed a dealer. I drive by your shop three or four times a week and have been sorely tempted to stop by and sit on that El Tigre, but I was afraid it would lead to something I can't afford!!!

And even more congratulations! Mark Gilbert of Honda City returned from the Las Vegas preview show with the Honda Goldline Service Award! Impressed? Wait until you find out that only 20 out of over 2,200 dealers received the award. Now that's impressive!

In talking with Mark last week I couldn't help but notice his enthusiasm for his business and his pride of being a Honda dealer. As you read this, Mark should be receiving his first Goldwing 1200... if he does we'll get down there and check it out for you! Again, nice going Mark Gilbert and his crew at Honda City!

Jim Demmer of Demmer Ford has a turbo Mustang GT that we will be reviewing next week. I wasn't even aware that you could get a GT with anything but the big five litre V-8 for power since 1981, so I'm glad to hear the four is back.

We have received a number of calls through these weeks about places to get custom items done to cars and trucks; i.e., lowering, striping, louvers, upholstery, things of that nature. If you know of a place, or do these things yourself, feel free to drop us a line or give us a call and let us know. So many times moonlighters don't care to make their service anything more than a hobby, so we are willing to start a little directory for these services. Please understand that we can't make recommendations based on hearsay, but we can pass on leads for you to check out.

And speaking of leads... If you are a Rabbit Convertible type... check out the all black 1980 model for sale by Larry Martin at Sunshine Honda... a really sharp 1982 Plymouth 2.2 Turismo at Crestwood Dodge... a 1981 Scir-

'On Golden Pond' draws rave review

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

It certainly is no secret that it's awfully difficult for two people to go out for dinner and entertainment these days without spending a big chunk of the weekly paycheck. The cost of a meal, combined with movie admission, concert tickets or seats at a sporting event can throw most budgets into a tailspin rather quickly.

But fear not. There is hope. For a short ride to the southeast and $15.95 per person, you can still enjoy an evening's worth of food and entertainment at a reasonable price.

The Comedy Players Dinner Theater, which is based at the Allen Park Motor Lodge on Southfield Road, will provide you and as many companions as you care to bring along with a thoroughly enjoyable evening. My wife and I recently attended the group's performance of "On Golden Pond" and were amazed at the price, the people, and the performance.

We attended on a Friday night, and the dining room, which has the stage located directly in the front foreground, was nearly full. The room seats 120 people.

From 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., cocktails are served. The cost of the drinks is not included in the $15.95 price, but the charges for the liquid refreshments are still very reasonable.

At precisely 7:30, dinner is served. Customers have a choice of roast sirloin or chicken cordon bleu, and a salad, vegetable and dessert.

Both my wife and I had the sirloin, with a baked potato, and found it to be very tasty. The meat was cooked as we had requested while the salad and dessert, which consisted of a parfait, were also enjoyable.

The next item of business is the opening of the play. The performance begins at 8:45, and runs in two acts until just past 11 p.m.

For "On Golden Pond", Don Craig plays the part of Norman, which was immortalized by Henry Fonda in the screen version of the same story. Craig is truly the standout performer of the evening, as he makes the viewer slightly remember Fonda, but adds enough of his own charm to make the performance truly unique.

The role of Ethel is played by Jane DeFoe, who also does a first-rate job with the part. DeFoe won Actress of the Year for the same role at the Wyandotte Community Theater last season, and her comfort with the role is obvious.

Trying very hard to steal the show is Frank Malary as Charley. Malary plays the role like he was born for it, and after talking to him after the show, I'm not so sure he wasn't. His performance as a sort of loveable clown is highlighted by a truly dramatic scene toward the end of the play.

Jan Salisbury, who manages the acting group, plays Chelsea, the daughter of Norman and Ethel. She plays the part very well, and adds just enough of herself to the role to make it interesting and revealing.

The part of Bill Ray, Chelsea's boyfriend, and later husband, is played by Bill Salisbury. Bill has been involved with theater productions for over 20 years, and that experience shines through in a strong and forceful performance.

Rounding out the cast is the part of Billy, which is played either by Neil Mandt or Matthew Gray. On the night we attended, Mandt handled the part, and did a very creditable job of portraying the 13-year-old who befriends Norman.

The play has just enough laughs, heartbreaks and emotion all mixed together to make it enjoyable for just about anyone. No matter what gender or age the viewer is, chances are he or she will see a little bit of himself in one or more of the characters.

"On Golden Pond" will continue at the Motor Lodge on Friday and Saturday evenings through December 10. On Jan. 20, Neil Simon's "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" will begin.

The theme of the Dinner Theater is "Great Theater-Great Food-A-Great Evening." It is all that and more. It is also great fun.

For reservations, call either 386-1300 or 661-1383. The Allen Park Motor Lodge is located at 14887 Southfield Road in Allen Park, between I-94 and I-75.

Billy (played by Neil Mandt) gets caught with his hand in the cookie jar by Ethel (Jane DeFoe) in the Comedy Players production of "On Golden Pond." Looking on are Norman (Don Craig) and Charley (Frank Malary).

Christmas Past revisited at Village

A Victorian Santa Claus will lead a cast of characters in traditional celebrations of Christmas Dec. 3 through 31 at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village.

Holiday visitors to the 12-acre museum will be greeted by character portrayals of St. Nick from the Victorian era, joined by such Victorian personalities as cartoonist Thomas Nast, Clement Moore, author of "The Night Before Christmas," and Sarah Rorer, food editor of The Ladies Home Journal during the 1890's.

Performances of "The Wizard of Oz" are scheduled at 2 p.m. Dec. 3, 10, 17 and 26 thru 31 at the Henry Ford Museum Theater. Colorful costumes, lavish sets and familiar songs are part of this fantasy journey with Dorothy, Scarecrow, Tin Woodsman and Cowardly Lion.

Holiday celebrations in adjacent Greenfield Village will highlight a look at Christmas preparations in more than a dozen historical buildings from the 18th century through the turn of the 19th century.

A rural Christmas of the 1870s will be evident in the boyhood farmhouse of Henry Ford, decorated with ornaments of natural materials and a simple tabletop tree trimmed with handmade flags reminiscent of the centennial. While the aromas of hearty dishes in the woodstove mingle with the odor of kerosene lamps, the delicate sounds of a music box will entertain guests while they chat with costumed occupants.

In contrast nearby, the urban home of Orville and Wilbur Wright will celebrate Christmas of 1900. A full-size tree with paper and store-bought ornaments, surrounded by gaily wrapped presents is the centerpiece. Similar decorations deck the halls throughout with the flickering glow of gas lamps. An old phonograph plays while Christmas dinner bakes in the gas oven.

Other holiday excitement in the village will include a New Year's reception in the home of Noah Webster, the gas-lit millinery shop where ladies busily fashion winter bonnets, the printing of greeting cards on 19th-century hand-operated and belt-driven presses in the Printing Office, the mellow General Store where children are welcome to play with reproductions of yesteryear toys, and in the Wright brothers' cycle shop. Visitors will discover what Wilbur and Orville were up to during the holiday season of 1903 as they prepared for their first successful airplane flight at Kitty Hawk.

While choirs sing in the village, the legalization of Christmas as a holiday will be related in the 1840 Logan County (Ill.) Courthouse, where Abraham Lincoln once practiced law. There will be period demonstrations of cooking and holiday decorations-making in other interesting sites such as the Eagle Tavern, an 1850s stage stop and inn that still serves meals to the public with the decor and fare of the time.

Not far away at the Menlo Park laboratories of Thomas Edison, the great inventor's assistants will be preparing for Edison's first public, electric lighting demonstration on New Year's Eve of 1879. In Sarah Jordan's decorated boarding house across the street — one of the first homes illuminated by Edison's new light — costumed ladies will operate a period sewing machine and stitch "fancy work" gifts for friends.

Yuletide Evening at Greenfield Village features a candlelight dinner with musical entertainment at either the 1850s Eagle Tavern in the village or at Heritage Hall in Henry Ford Museum. The highlight of the evening is a sleigh ride and walking tour through the village, with hot spiced cider as a warm ending to the cheery occasion. Yuletide Evenings are scheduled Dec. 1 thru '31, except the 24th and 25th, and require advance reservations.

what's that sound?

Wait for original Springsteen

NEWS NOTES

Folks at the film company responsible for the film "Eddie & the Cruisers" deny that the movie mimics Bruce Springsteen or tries to cash in on his "Sound." If that's their contention, then they haven't seen the film or heard the soundtrack, which is second-rate E Street music all the way.

Forget about it and wait for the original, when his new (and, naturally overdue) LP and tour appear early next year. By the way, "Eddie & the Cruisers" premiered on September 23rd, which — by coincidence only I'm sure (chuckle chuckle) — also happens to be the Boss' birthday. Springsteen was 34.

As everyone who cares probably knows by now, guitarist Mick Jones has been sacked from the Clash for what Joe "like my new false teeth?" Strummer termed "artistic differences." Jones, on the other hand, claims he feels quite cheated by the whole ordeal, and that he had never been contacted until the decision had been made. Meanwhile, Jones has been digging with two former members of the English Beat.

There are new LPs by Bob Dylan, the Payolas, Duran Duran, The Pretenders and Billy Idol just out that you'll more than likely be reading about in these pages. There are also new albums by Heart, John Cougar Mellencamp, Pat Benatar and the Doors you won't hear hide nor hair of here.

Anyone who paid money to see the legendary rock 'roll ensemble The Band at Royal Oak Theatre last month expecting to see guitarist Robbie Robertson (the Band's helmsman) should ask for their money back. And, contrary to local music writers, Robertson did not give "his seal of approval" to the remaining members, instead calling it a "farce" and a "rip-off."

Oh those kids! Just as they did in the 60's and 70's, fellow Kinks Ray and Dave Davies have been fighting again, causing an American tour to be cancelled. Well, Ray can always stay home and watch the kid while Chrissie Hynde is on tour with the non-feuding Pretenders, and Dave can sit home and wait for someone to buy a copy of his latest solo album.

Did you know dept. Billy Idol's newest video, the tremendous "Dancing With Myself," was directed by Tobe Hooper, he of "Texas Chainsaw Massacre" fame. That's the song I predicted would be a hit nearly two years ago when it was first released in the U.S.

Do you care dept. Annabella, lead singer for the rather boring Bow Wow Wow is now the ex-lead singer for the band, who plan to continue being boring and banal, only this time with a different vocalist.

MTV HITS & MISSES

HITS Cyndi Lauper's "Girls Just Want to Have Fun," Dangerfield's "Rappin' Rodney," the JoBoxers' "Just Got Lucky," Tim Scott's "Swear," Ian Hunter's "All the Good Ones Are Taken," and Big Country's "Big Country."

MISSES Peter Schilling's plagiarizing "Major Tom," the Doors' "live" material, most concert videos, the new Benatar, any Stevie Nicks tunes and "Suddenly Last Summer" by the Motels. Among hundreds of others, of course.

Special Violence in Video award to the Rolling Stones for "Undercover," which is akin to the movie Taxi Driver only in three-and-a-half minutes.

A class act

Olympic medalist Linda Fratianne and a host of Disney stars will match their talents in Walt Disney's Magic Kingdom on Ice, which opens next Tuesday for 11 performances through Dec. 11 at the Joe Louis Arena. Among the featured entertainers are Mickey and Minnie Mouse, Donald and Daisy Duck, Goofy, Pluto, Snow White and Alice in Wonderland who will skate through five magical lands of enchantment. In addition to Fratianne, record holder Vern Taylor and daredevil Nick Marich will exhibit their world class precision on ice. Created by Irvin and Kenneth Feld, the show also will unveil a gigantic video arcade of Tomorrowland — the Tron dimension. Tickets, priced from $5.50 to $8.50 are available at the arena and all CTC outlets. Further information can be obtained by calling 567-6000.

Concert set at Marygrove

A Brass Choir will join the Marygrove College Chorale and Chamber Singers at Marygrove College's Annual Christmas Concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Sacred Heart Chapel on the campus, 8425 West McNichols in northwest Detroit.

Admission for the concert is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children and senior citizens. Proceeds will be used for the Marygrove College Chorale and Chamber Singer's trip to Ireland and Wales in March.

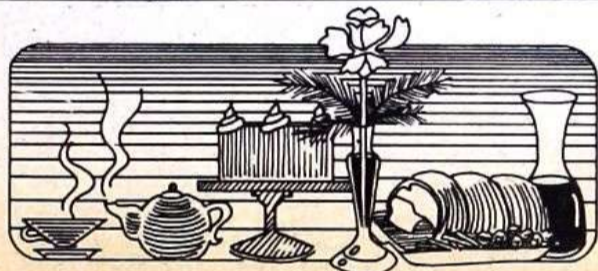

The Brass Choir, composed of local brass players, will join the Chorale for Pinkham's "Christmas Cantata" and G. Gabrieli's "Jubilate Deo."

The Marygrove College Chorale will also perform Schubert's "Magnificat" and many traditional Christmas carols.

The Marygrove College Chorale is a mixed ensemble of 40 voices. The Chamber Singers, a select group of 14 voices, are all members of the Chorale. Both groups have been asked to perform at the Cardiff Festival of Choirs, invitational choral festival in Cardiff, Wales. They are the only groups invited from Michigan.

For tickets, contact Marygrove's music department at 862-8000, ext. 290.

KEN KAESTNER

End of an era Kaestner resigns as Churchill's football coach

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

After 26 years coaching prep football, Ken Kaestner of the Livonia Churchill Chargers has decided to retire from the active ranks.

Kaestner, who has been at Churchill for 16 years, also spent time as head coach at Brighton High school. Before that, he was involved as an assistant at North Farmington. Seven years coaching youngsters in junior high ranks and at Avondale High also are included on his coaching resume.

"I couldn't be leaving under better circumstances," said Kaestner. "I've been at it a long time, and I still love the game, but high school football today demands 100 percent of your time. I felt that I just couldn't devote that much time to the program anymore."

"It is neat to leave while it is still fun. Sometimes, people hang around too long and get bitter. That hasn't happened to me. I'm leaving while I still enjoy the game, and I think that's the way it should be."

While at Churchill, Kaestner compiled a record of 72-59-3. His teams won four league championships, and his 1972 and 1978 teams ended their seasons with undefeated records.

"I plan on doing some fishing, playing some autumn golf with the faculty, and doing some traveling with my wife," Kaestner said. "I also will continue to teach at Churchill."

"The game has been very good to me, but there are things, like the pressure involved, that I won't miss."

Replacing Kaestner as head coach will be Herb Osterland, who has been an offensive coordinator at Churchill for 10 years.

"I'm leaving things in good hands with Herb," said Kaestner. "He is a fantastic person, and he knows the game. I am sure the program will prosper under his leadership."

Wayne crushes Dearborn for district crown

The Wayne Zebras completed their sweep of the District 5 girls' basketball tournament with a stunning 50-34 victory over the Dearborn Pioneers.

The Zebras had earned a spot in the championship match up by eliminating Garden City 48-27 the previous Saturday.

Against the Dearborn squad, it was the pinpoint passing of guards Brenda and Barb Engle that allowed the Zebras to jump out to a big lead in a hurry.

"We outscored them 11-2 in the first quarter, and that kind of set the tone for the game."

Mike Schuette

"Their passing and steals made the difference for us," said Wayne coach Mike Schuette. "We outscored them 11-2 in the first quarter, and that kind of set the tone for the game."

At the half, the Zebras held a commanding 25-12 lead, and they were in front by 13, 35-22, entering the final eight minutes of play.

Leading the attack for the winner was Julie Cobrea. She chipped in 17 points and 16 rebounds against the Pioneers, and Cindy Burnie also contributed 11.

The win moved the Zebras into this week's regional tournament at Salem High School. They were scheduled to face Trenton, a perennial powerhouse, on Tuesday night. If victorious there, they would advance to Friday night's finale against the winner of the Bedford, Salem match up, which also was held Tuesday.

"I couldn't be leaving under better circumstances. I've been at it a long time, and I still love the game, but high school football today demands 100 percent of your time. I felt that I just couldn't devote that much time to the program anymore."

Ken Kaestner,
Churchill coach

Rocks advance with win over Patriots

The Plymouth Salem Rocks will go to regional action this week with the added advantage of the home floor, since they won their district with a 43-27 win over Livonia Franklin.

The Rocks fell behind early to an emotionally charged Franklin team, but they recovered to slowly pull away in the later quarters.

The Patriots jumped out to a 12-4 lead at the end of eight minutes, but the game was far from over.

"They are a very good team, and they came out really emotionally high," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "It took our kids awhile to get adjusted, but once we did, we turned things around."

Those things got turned around in dramatic fashion in the second quarter, when the Rocks outpointed the Patriots 14-0. From there, it was pretty much Salem's game. They outscored the Patriots 13-7 in the third quarter, and 12-8 in the finale.

Pam McBride led the winners with 17 points, and teammate Dawn Johnson added nine. For Franklin, Sue Johnson was tops with 13 points.

Salem will host the regionals this week. The Rocks were to face off against Bedford Tuesday night. If victorious, they would compete for the regional crown in a Friday night clash with the winner of the Trenton-Wayne meeting.

Belleville is toppled by Bedford

The Belleville Tigers ran into a big and fast Bedford team in the district playoffs last Monday night, and the result was the end of the Tiger season. Bedford jumped out to a 12-6 first quarter lead, and pulled away from there to eventually win, 64-34.

"The kids were a little bit flat tonight," said Belleville coach Tom McClennan. "I think nerves had a lot to do with the way we played, especially early."

By the half, Bedford was in command, 24-14, and they put the game on ice in the third quarter with 21 points to Belleville's 13.

"I looked up at the scoreboard in the third quarter, and all of a sudden there were 14 points up that weren't there before," said McClennan. "They were that fast, especially on the boards."

Mary Plaza led the Tigers in the losing cause with 10 points, and Carol Rogers chipped in nine.

The loss ended Belleville's seasons with a 2-18 record, and coach McClennan called that "disappointing."

"We had problems with injuries, and we lost some tough ball games," said McClennan. "We were short on experience, but the kids played hard all year long."

MPVCA picks Busuito top coach

Wayne Memorial volleyball coach Doris Busuito, who guided her Zebras to the Class A volleyball state championship for the 1983 season, was presented another accolade last week.

The Michigan Interscholastic Volleyball Coaches' Association named Mrs. Busuito as its "Coach of the Year."

Mrs. Busuito, who has coached at Wayne

Memorial for the past nine years, said she was "pleased and honored to receive the post season recognition by her peers."

District playoffs

Falcons best Vikings

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

The Inkster Vikings loss to the Divine Child Falcons on Wednesday night was only the fifth defeat of the season for the Inkster hoopers. Unfortunately, since it came in a district championship game, it also ended the year for the Vikings.

Divine Child, rated high in Class B all season, was expected to win the district, but the Inkster girls made them work for it before falling, 53-37, on Wednesday night in a game played at Robichaud High School.

"They really were out in front of us most of the game," said Inkster coach Alton Darden, "but the girls started to play in the last quarter. We just didn't get enough."

Two Vikings did the bulk of the scoring in the loss. Samitra Lamarr was on top with 14 points, and Michele Motley added ten.

The loss gave the Inkster cagers a 12-5 mark for 1983. They finished second in the Suburban Athletic Conference behind River Rouge.

"Rouge beat us twice, but there were a couple of other games we lost that I don't think we should have," said Darden. "I can't complain too much, though, I guess."

The Cherry Hill Spartans ended their basketball season the way a lot of teams are going to end their seasons. They ran into the Divine Child Falcons, and ended up on the wrong end of a 64-17 score.

"They were big. They could shoot well from 15 feet out, and we couldn't slow them down," said Spartan coach William Walters. "We went to a man-to-man late in the first half and played them fairly even, but things fell apart in the second half."

Divine Child set the pace with a 19-4 advantage in the opening frame. It was 30-12 at the half, and 44-17 after three quarters. In the final eight minutes, the Falcons racked up 20 points, and kept the Spartans off the scoreboard altogether.

....Also oust Spartans

Venovia Wolf scored ten points to lead the vanquished. The Cherry Hill girls closed their season with an 8-11 record, which Walters was not too disappointed with.

"Considering that seven or eight of our girls were playing the game for the first time, I think we did pretty well," said Walters. "We finished tied for fourth in the Tri River League (6-8), so I think we were successful."

Huron plans unique fundraiser

Community calendar has lots of winners

A community calendar is being developed by the Huron School District listing meeting times and locations of all service, community, school and children's clubs and organizations, and all pre-planned special events from July 1, 1984 until June 30, 1985.

For a $5 fee, a birthday or anniversary date can also be placed on the calendar.

The community calendar is being produced as a fundraiser for the Huron Schools Extracurricular Activities Fund and will include a daily, monthly and yearly raffle.

Each calendar will be given an official number. This number will be registered at the school, along with the buyer's name, address and telephone number.

Winners will be notified weekly by mail, and a newsletter will be published periodically during the year and mailed to each calendar holder, listing the names of the winners.

For each day during the calendar year, a number will be drawn. The calendar

Sumpter Township landfill is among state's worst toxic waste sites

the dangers of explosion were among the criteria used by DNR officials to rank the sites.

The 218 sites were selected, after preliminary screening, out of about 900 toxic waste sites identified by the state.

The DNR used a 2,000 point scoring system to score the sites. The new ranking system was devised in August, and the evaluations done this fall, Klepper said.

State DNR officials have called the test "unique" in the country.

The list should speed up research and clean-up procedures said Klepper. "This is simply a mechanism to help determine what action is needed to deal with the sites," he said.

The list, which will be finalized after state wide public hearings next month, will be used by the governor and legislature in determining clean-up priority, Klepper said.

Clean-up funds, from both federal and state sources, may be available in the next few months, the DNR official said.

In Sumpter, officials are hoping that funds from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Superfund will at least speed up the Satterlee clean-up.

"That (the Satterlee) site was one of those recommended when the bill first went to Congress," Reeves said. "We want it cleaned up with that money. We can't afford to do the job ourselves."

Residents are living in the vicinity of the Satterlee landfill, Reeves said.

The supervisor also said that he hoped the relatively low ranking of the Sumpter sites wouldn't jeopardize Superfund priority. "I'll be checking into that," he said.

Legislation appropriating state dollars (which will then be matched by federal Superfund money) was passed by the State Senate a month ago, and is now pending before the House of Representatives.

Following passage of Senate Bill 188 (which doesn't stipulate how the funds will be spent), money might be made immediately available to begin the clean-up, according to an aide of State Senator William Faust.

- Engineer's Report - Wilhelmi
Agenda items only.
D. Welch asked questions of the Engineer regarding the Administration part of the Karr-Elwell Road Watermain and if and where the plans were located for the project. Banotai asked that the lot lines and driveways be observed in order for them to be restored after construction of the water line. Pictures will be taken.
Motion by Morgan, supported by Banotai to accept Engineer's Report. Motion carried unanimously.
- Old Business
A. Motion by Morgan, supported by Bevins, the closing of each office during the Holidays, Dec. 27, 28 & 29 will be left to each department head's discretion. The Treasurer's Office will remain open during the three days. If this is the only office to remain open, police protection will be provided. Motion carried unanimously.
Supervisor's Office will be closed.
B. Motion by Humphreys, supported by Morgan to re-award the Proposed Karr-Elwell Road Watermain Contract to Pipe Specialists at a total of $112,757.00. The Supervisor and Clerk authorized to sign all documents for Township. Motion carried unanimously.
C. Motion by Humphreys, supported by Morgan to approve Change Order #1 decreasing the total contract amount to $82,485.00, authorizing the Supervisor and Clerk to sign the Change Order for the Township. Motion carried unanimously.

D. George Snider, speaking as a representative of the residents in the area of the West salvage facility, asked if only one salvage yard was licensed in the Township. Also asked if West was licensed by the Township. One salvage yard is licensed in the Township and West does not have a Township license.

Bradshaw asked if he is operating a commercial business in a residential area, does he have to be re-zoned commercial. Also if he was paying commercial taxes.

B. Armstrong & S. Kormos were opposed to having a junk yard in their back yards.

Complained of rodents and ground hogs that destroyed their crops.

M. Armstrong asked if the license was granted would the property have to be re-zoned.

Non-conforming property remains non-conforming.

Supervisor asked for a motion to deny the request.

Attorney advised the Supervisor and Board that a motion to deny the request should be looked into before the Board has the power to abolish the facility. It must be determined if the business and/or use of the property had been suspended for one year.

Humphreys recommended that the residents send letters to the Township stating their reasons for wanting the facility closed and it would give the Board something to work with.

Motion by Humphreys, supported by Hoffman to table West request for salvage facility until all information from surrounding residents is received and compiled in the Clerk's Office. Motion carried unanimously.
